Roosevelt still has a lead of 119 votes in California.

Roosevelt is still in the lead but headed in the wrong direction.

There was more souging of wind Saturday than was satisfactory.

These are the days when it takes a "reformer" to catch a "reformer."

Aeroplanes have been playing a large part in the success of the Balkan army in their war with the Turks.

Now we have the auto with a piano attachment. Probably the motorcycle will have a piccolo device just to keep up.

Rolling a peanut up hill with a tooth pick may be good sport but smacks too much of peanut politics—when you lose the bet.

The anchor of the old ship of state will be hauled up March 4. May she have a "Caulking" good trip and not get into the whaling business.

President Elect Wilson now intends to call a special session of congress, to attend to the tariff question. He evidently believes in starting the tuss early.

A manac, loaded with dynamite, held the police and others at bay in Los Angeles for some little time one day this week. Finally a detective cracked his noodle and he is now in the hospital.

President Taft's speech made before the Lotus club in New York, which he called his "swan song speech," indicates that he is a much larger man mentally than even his warmest admirers thought.

Speaker Bradner has withdrawn his resignation as a member of the legislature and resigned as secretary of the Live Stock Sanitary Board. This will reduce some wear and tear on the part of candidates for the speakership.

The new street signs ordered by the city council are indeed nifty and the public will be surprised and pleased when they are put up. As soon as the house numbering scheme is given out, every good citizen should put up his number.

The Santa Fe railroad company brought suit to restrain the state of Arizona from enforcing the 3 cent fare law in the U. S. court at San Francisco. Judge Morrow has set Dec. 2 for a hearing and granted a temporary injunction.

The wo-men of Pittsburg, Kansas, were sure some gid-up-men last week when they learned that woman suffrage had won in Kansas. They threw their hats, birds, feathers and all into a bonfire and danced around the flames in a grand hurrah celebrating the victory. They might also have slung in a few old dress patterns.

The confession of McManigal as to the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building by McNamara is as cold blooded a piece of work as ever happened in America. McNamara knew he would take many lives by his act, but hoped Otis would be among them. Getting off as easy as he did seems to be putting a premium on killing people when you don't like them.

THANKSGIVING

It has been the custom for many years in this country to set aside a special day for Thanksgiving. It may have grown upon many of us as merely a custom or habit. It really should mean much more to every individual. Looked upon as a festive occasion, when the plenty of the land is exemplified by a bounteous repast composed of the very choicest, humanity is prone to overlook the source from when it all comes, and become absorbed in the deliciousness and palatableness of the repast. "Every good gift, and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of Lights." So the real purpose of the day is not so much an occasion of "high living," but should be one of thanksgiving for the prosperity and perpetuity of Nation; for the prosperity and happiness of home, church, and state; for the blessings of beneficent tho' unseen hand of providence.

As our nation and state bows its head next Thursday in Thanksgiving for the blessings of the past year, may it be indeed a day of truly gratefulness for ALL that we have enjoyed, that we have had, that we have desired and accomplished, and may the vision for greater things for the coming year in temporal things be eclipsed only by the constant vision of the highest and loftiest ideals in all matters, yet not despising the day of small things.

In thirty-two states, according to figures now compiled, the combined votes cast for Taft and Roosevelt exceeded the vote cast for Wilson. Those states have 358 of the 531 votes in the electoral college. In sixteen states Governor Wilson had more votes than Roosevelt and Taft combined. Those states cast 173 electoral votes.

All of which shows that the candidate of a united republican party would have had a majority of the popular vote by more than a million, and in the electoral college the majority would have been 185.

These figures have a significant bearing on the future of the republican party and the attempts already under way to rehabilitate it. Propositions have been made in a number of the states for a get-together movement, and each side appears to be willing to bury the hatchet. They have learned that divisions butter no parsnips, paraphrasing Don Quixote.

The merchants of Phoenix are contemplating a co-operative advertising plan to keep trade at home. The plan suggested is to pay a certain amount to newspapers to put before mail order buyers the advantage of trading at home. Heretofore newspapers have been "urged" to make strong campaigns of education along this line in order that people would trade more at home with home merchants, and in this way build up home merchants in order that they might make more money, but they overlooked the fact that paper and printers cost money to some one, though the glory of running a newspaper is indeed great. This plan of merchants putting their shoulder to the wheel and putting up a part of the expense of advertising concerted along one line is a bright idea and would have splendid effect on mail order buyers and newspaper men as well.

Yuma celebrated the syphon event in a most enthusiastic manner, closing the event with fireworks in the evening. A warm time in the southern city.

The supreme court of the United States has pulled the plug on the bath tub trust. Now if you can not keep clean by changing parties, change shirts.

The situation in the East is very little improved, and the Turks are suing for peace—with a vengeance.

EMERSON SCHOOL NOTES

The third month of school draws near to its close with an enrollment of 241, of which number 29 are enrolled at the Brannen school. At present the greatest increase is in the 7th and 8th grade room, there being 41 now enrolled there.

As Thanksgiving approaches we are preparing a moderate program to be given in the Emerson hall next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Miss Duffy is also preparing a program at the Brannen school to be given next Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Parents are cordially invited to attend these exercises.

The new addition is making pleasing progress at present. The basement is completed, the four walls are up, and the woodwork and plumbing are being pushed rapidly. We are very glad to see the work continue and we are anxious to occupy the new rooms as soon as they are completed.

Children and teachers, as well as parents living near the school, are glad to note that our playground is being cleared of the superabundance of rocks which have gradually accumulated until they have fairly driven the children into the street for their play. We expect soon to see the children on the schoolground again, where they should be during school hours.

ESPERANTO CLUB.

Teachers of the public school and others, have united in an effort to establish an Esperanto Club which meets every Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Emerson. All those interested are requested to come. If you do not know what "Esperanto" means, find out. If you wish to be abreast of the times; if you wish to communicate intelligently and satisfactorily with people in all parts of the world, be they German, French, Russian, or of any other nationality, learn Esperanto. Come and see cards and letters from the seat of war in the East, written in Esperanto and easily intelligible to all who will spend a few hours learning the key. The people of Europe know it now. Let us Americans learn it also. We can do so more quickly and more easily than we can learn English. For further particulars apply to O. H. Richardson.

Printed the Navajo Dictionary

Mr. George Connolly, a former school mate of Mr. David Babbitt, was in the city Tuesday from St. Michaels where he has been for the past three years working on the Navajo dictionary being printed by Catholic missionaries at St. Michaels. The work took three years of printing in the little shop owned by the fathers and is a work of art aside from being the finest thing of the kind ever produced in type. Mr. Connolly left Wednesday for his old home in Cincinnati.

Warning Notice

The cowardly murderous brutes who on the night of the 10th at four o'clock in the morning that tried so hard and came so near burning alive the two people living in a small cabin on my place were very likely disappointed over their failure, and may be surprised to learn that I have evidence enough to convince me beyond any doubt as to who the guilty parties are, and I warn them that if I catch them trying this cowardly deed again the undertaker will have a job on his hands.
